From the annual report of County Assessor B. H. Hayes for the year 1869 some interesting statistics of the development of the county are obtained. At the time of the compiling of the report it was estimated that San Mateo contained a total population of approximately 4,300, out of which 1,351 were registered voters. At this time there were 150,000 acres of land enclosed, of which about 80,000 were under cultivation. Of the cultivated land 22,500 acres was in wheat, 13,000 acres in barley, 20,000 in oats, 75 acres in peas, 400 acres in beans, 6,000 acres in potatoes, 100 acres in onions, 25 acres in hops, and 2,000 acres in beets. At that time there were 16 saw mills in the county, the total cut of lumber from which for the year amounted to 10,000,000 feet of lumber, while 24,000,000 shingles were made.

On the morning of October 23d, the boiler in Littlejohn's feed mill exploded with considerable violence, causing no small excitement among the usually quiet people of Redwood City. The boiler, which was a small one of the upright variety, exploded from the bottom and was blown in an upward course, passing through a pile of wood and landing some 50 feet distant on top of another woodpile. The most serious damage was to the engine room, which was completely wrecked. Just what was the cause of the "blow up" seems to have been hard to determine, as although no one was in the room at the time, the proprietor of the mill was certain that a very light pressure was being carried at the time, as the machinery of the mill was not in operation. Mr. Littlejohn and his son, who were the only occupants of the building at the time, were standing in the next room and escaped injnry, although nothing but a thin partition of boards protected them from being scalded by the escaping steam.

Apparently the good people of this town in its early days were for some reason not over well pleased with the name which had originally seemed so appropriately selected for the place. Just what was the reason for this dissatisfaction must be a matter of conjecture, as no particular argument for the desire for a change appears to have been advanced, though seemingly Redwood City favored too much of commercialism and to hint to strongly of the chief industry which gave to the town both its origin and its cognomen. In the latter part of November, 1869, it was again suggested that the name should be changed, but as in the first instance it was found that no one could suggest a name that would stand a chance of popular approval, and for want of an agreed choice the good old name still stood and the shipment of redwood lumber still went forward at the wharves.

On the 1st of December a terrible accident, apparently another case of a too liberal indulgence in liquor, occurred near the old James Byrnes' store, on the road to Halfmoon Bay, resulting in the almost instant death of J. D. Lee, an old and highly regarded citizen of the county. For a year previous to this time Lee had been working on the county road and was engaged in this capacity at the time of his death, which was caused by being trampled under the feet of a runaway team. The team, which was of four horses, was being driven by Jesse Armstrong, who had been teaming for some time between San Mateo and Halfmoon Bay. At the time of the accident Armstrong was on his return from San Mateo, and as he passed Byrnes's store the horses started to run. Lee saw the team coming, and realizing that they were beyond the control of their driver, crowded close to the bank where he hoped to be safe. The horses however swerved to one side just as they approached the unfortunate man and he was draged along the bank for some time, when he fell and was rolled under the feet of the horses and after being trampled upon was drawn under the heavy wagon the wheels of which ran over his head, crushing it in a horrible manner. For a few moments the dying man retained partial cnnsciousness and apparently attempted to speak to those who first reached his side but was unable to utter the words and almost immediately expired. Apparently the driver of the team was intoxicated at the time, and when the team started to run had only one of the lines in his hands while the others were draging along the ground. Immediately after the accident Armstrong was placed under arrest and was taken before Justice Skidmore at San Mateo, who held him in $2000 bail to await an investigation by the grand jury.

A rather slick burglar turned a neat and somewhat profitable "trick" about this time at Spanishtown, in which Kelly & Mattingly, proprietors of a general merchandise store were relieved of about $200. Apparently the operator was pretty well informed as to the lay of the land and methods of the business, as before attempting to enter the store he visited the home of Mr. Kelley, one of the proprietors, stealing the key of the safe from the pocket of the pantaloons of the sleeping merchant. Armed with this easy means of opening the safe, the burglar managed to affect an entrance to the store by means of a skeleton key. Once inside of the store he quietly made his way to the safe, which he easily unlocked and ransacked of its contents securing about $200 in cash. Not altogether satisfied with his luck, the slick operator then made his way to a room in the rear of the store occupied by a clerk, who slept on the premises as a precaution against just such occurrences. This guardian of the place however slumbered soundly through the operations and was not even disturbed when the burglar went through the pockets of his clothing beside the bed, and knew nothing of the occurrence until he awoke at the usual time the next morning and found himself locked in the room and his valuables gone. As soon as the situation dawned upon him he gave the alarm, but the burglar had secured too good a start and nothing was ever found of any one upon whom suspicion could be laid.

IN LINCOLN'S MEMORY

Womens Relief Corps Observes Natal Day of Saviour of Great Nation.

Lincoln Memorial Day and the 23rd anniversary of the organization of the Corps were most fittingly observed by Gen. Geo. S. Evans Relief Corps No. 36 at their lodge rooms on Friday afternoon.

The rooms made a charming picture with their gay decorations of national colors, while a protrait of Lincoln, artistically draped with flags occupied a conspicious place.

After the meeting the following pleasing program was rendered:

"Battle Song of the Republic".....Corps
Address on the Life of Lincoln.....Mrs. Caroline Heiner
"Gettysburg Address".....Mrs. Alice Mansfield
A talk on veterans of the Civil War.....Mrs. Bertha Werder
Song, "Tenting Tonight".....Corps
Reminisences of "Twenty-three Years".....Mrs. Geraldine E. Frisbie, President of Corps
Salute to the flag.

The poem written by Mrs. Mansfield in commemoration of the 23rd anniversary of the corps and in honor of the four remaining charter members was read by Mrs. Mary Winter as follows:

Today we meet together,
Our thoughts wander back to the past,
When in spite of the awful weather
(For the rain was falling fast)
A band of loyal women,
Perhaps a dozen or more,
Were joined in fraternal bondage—
And this was the birth of our Corps.

For many years—thirty-three today—
We've labored and toiled and done our mite
To help the "Boys of '63"
Who lived to tell of the awful fight,
And to aid their dear ones, and keep ever new
The memory of those who wore the blue.

Our motto is: Fraternity, Charity and Loyalty.
And when a member falls in her part
"To do unto others as ye would,"
We blame the head and not the heart.
Fraternity is the golden chain,
And Charity is the link that binds it,
And Loyalty alone can show
The strength there is behind it.

We've had our sorrows and our joys,
And today it starts the tears
When we think that only four remain
Of—I'll call them our pioneers.
Mrs. Frisbie, Fox and Sampson
And Mrs. Rhodes make up the four
Who have all these years proved loyal
To Old Glory and the Corps.

All honor to them and the ones who have gone!
May we walk in the paths they have trod.
Then will we know when our work here is done
We will rest in the home of our God.

At the conclusion of the program light refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Valentine Reception.

A valentine dance and party was given Saturday evening at the residence of Mrs. Belle Folsom of Wellesley Park, the hostesses being Misses Irene Kohler, Gladys Lowe and Alma Lorenz. Among those present were the Misses Ethel Price, Grace Lewis, Kitsie Buckhout, Laurette Bomberg, Mrs. McLachlan, Messrs. Gussie Mullen, Edward Vierro, Eugene Curran, Henry Mengels, Morris Goldsmith, Chester Mero, Henry Boos and Messrs. Masser, Valentine and Vickary, Stanford students. At about the witching hour of twelve refreshments were served. The guests declare that a delightful evening of entertainment sped all too quickly.

The opening of the Dumbarton bridge next month is exciting the attention of residents around the whole bay circuit. At Newark a monster celebration is being planned. It has been a 40-year fight to get trains into San Francisco by this short-cut, and its actual realization seems almost marvelous.

The rainfall for the season up to date is reported as 12.48 inches. Last season up to date, 20.24 inches.

NEW INCORPORATION STILL HANGS FIRE

Supervisors Hesitate to Decide Between the Contending Municipal Factions.

HILLSBORO IS YET IN THE AIR

San Mateo Officials Declare Merchants Were Intimidated by Their Wealthy Patrons.

The Board of Supervisors held an adjourned meeting last Monday. All the members were present. Very little business was transacted other than hearing the addresses of those favoring the incorporation of the town of Hillsboro and the protests of several members of the board of trustees of the city of San Mateo.

A petition signed by the merchants and business men of San Mateo was read favoring the incorporation of the proposed town with the boundary lines as described in the petition.

M. J. Conway, city trustee of San Mateo, strongly opposed incorporation of Hillsboro with the boundary lines suggested in the petition.

City Attorney C. N. Kirkbride entered a vigorous protest. He claimed the boundary described was not the proper geographical one, that it was not in harmony with the topography of the county, in fact there was no uiform boundary. He was decidedly opposed to the western boundary line. He ridiculed the zigzag course in that direction and asked that the lines be changed. He made the statement that the tradespeople who signed the petition above referred to we coerced into doing so.

Trustee Morse made a strong plea in opposition to the petition. He said the trustees represented the pople of San Mateo and that the citizens were opposed to incorporation.

Those who spoke in favor of the petition were Rev. Brewer, Capt. Payson, George Newhall, Elliot McAllister Samuel Knight, H. P. Bowie, Norris Davis.

Chairman McEvoy stated that such matters were usually left to the supervisor whose district it affected. He suggested that the county roads in the territory proposed to be incorporated be provided for before an election was held. Mr. Coleman was not prepared to act and further consideration of the petition went over until the next regular meeting.

The matter of the missing articles of plumbing that were taken from the courthouse went over until the next meeting. The board felt that the contractors were responsible for the schedule of plumbing articles that were given them when the contract was signed.

A communication from the Board of Trade of San Mateo thanking the supervisors for their assistance in securing an exhibit for the Panama-Pacific exposition was filed.

Donald Mackenzie, superintendent of the courthouse construction, was authorized to secure three tons of coal to test the heating apparatus.

Sequoia Students Entertain.

The students of the Sequoia Union High School, assisted by Mrs. Gish of San Francisco, delighted a large audience at the Alhambra on Thursday night with the excellent production of "The Lady of Shalott."

This was followed by the amusing opera entitled "The Bogus School Inspector," which was given by the boys of the school.

The solo numbers of Mrs. Gish and Mr. Carrington were especially fine and added greatly to the evening's enjoyment.

The entire program which was under the direction of Otis M. Carrington, is as follows:

Part I.—Haymaking (Needham), Mrs. Gish; Una Furtura Lagrima (from the opera Elisire d'Amore), Otis M. Carrington; (a) A Forest Song (Whelpley), (b) A Bowl of Roses (Clarke), Mrs. Gish; The Lady of Shalott (Bendall), chorus of girl voices assisted by Mrs. Gish.

Part II.—The Bogus School Inspector. Colonel Fig (school inspector), C. Woodhams; valet, B. E. Myers; Mr. Pointer (school teacher), Otis M. Carrington; Mr. Fetchem (truant officer) Lisle Winter; Johnny Stout (lazy boy), Arthur Kirkpatrick. Pianist, Miss K. Wollenden.

Charged With Libel.

A. A. Lo Reaux and Harry Leslie of San Bruno were here yesterday and swore to a complaint charging A. J. Tucker, E. M. A. Pallas, W. L. Linsba and E. W. Netherton, editor of the San Bruno Banner with criminal libel, in the circulation and publication of defamatory charges against the former in connection with school matters in San Bruno. Tuesday night an attempt was made to kill Tucker by firing a shot at him while he was undressing in his room. The warrants will be issued by the District Attorney and the Sheriff is investigating the alleged murder attempt.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER

D. E. O'KEEFE, Editor and Proprietor

The initial number of the Hughson Citizen, a new paper published in Hughson one of the flourishing little towns that have recently sprung up in the San Joaquin Valley, made its appearance February 10th. From the tone of the first number it is evident that editor W. Clement Stone intends to be a booster for his town as well as to provide his people with a bright local paper.

A Commendable Result.

The vote in favor of the issuance of bonds for public improvements means much for the material advancement of this city. By a pleasingly decicive majority the taxpayers have registered their determination that Redwood City shall take her place among the progressive municipalities of the Peninsula and that henceforth the watchword is to be progress.

For the accomplishment of this desirable result the Times-Gazette considers that it is entitled to no small credit. From the very inception of the plan for the issuance of the bonds it has been an earnest advocate on the movement. In this course we have been actuated not only by the confidence that the best public good could be accomplished, but a belief that the Trustees well deserve the support of every citizen in their efforts for the improvement of the city.

This commendable spirit once aroused must not be allowed to return to slumber. Opportunities for material expansion and business growth await us on every side. A little united effort at this time will easily secure the location in our midst of desirable enterprises.

Dont Tolerate Debasing Exhibitions.

When Tex Ricard announced immediately after the signing of articles for the fight between Jefries and Johnson, that the battle would be waged in Salt Lake City, the Governor of Utah without hesitancy declared that it could not be held in that state, and was backed up by the district attorney of Salt Lake City, who stated as unequivocally that he would not permit it to take place in that city. The law of Utah is no more prohibitory than the law of California, and yet there is no law officer of this state, as yet, raised his voice to enforce the provisions of our penal code against this crime. One of the principals of the Nelson-Wolgast contest is publicly training in this county and the other is training in San Francisco. Who thinks of interfering? Who thinks of enforcing the law?

Whence do the trustees of Richmond imagine they derive authority to permit the Nelson-Wolgast fight to take place in their city The may find, when too late, that they have subjected themselves to criminal prosecution for aiding and abetting a prize fight. Perhaps they may yet be called to account by the district attorney or grand jury of Contra Costa County. No permit for a "sparing exhibition" can legalize a prize fight; and it is well known that the combat between Nelson and Wolgast is to be a prize fight in all that word implies.

In 1902 the Terry McGovern and Young Corbett fight that was to have taken place at Louisville, Ky., was prevented by an injunction brought by the Attorney General of that state and the Court of Appeals in granting the injunction forbidding the fight and declared prize fighting a public nuisance and commented as follows;

"Such a meeting as would have been held in the Auditorium in Louisville, to witness the prize fight between McGovern and Corbett, if that fight had occurred, would doubtless have attracted many of the better and law-abiding class of citizens, curious to see such a spectacle as a prize fight; but for every such reputable citizen thus attending there would have been present a dozen gamblers, confidencer men, bunco steerers or pick pockets, gathered from all parts of the United States, men of idle and vicious, and criminal habits and practices, whose business is to prey upon the public in some form or other and many of them would remain in the community after the combat to ply their nefarious calling. Such an assemblage would be easily lead into a riot, or other unlawful disturbances of the public peace. In addition to the evils suggested, there would be the contaminating effect of such a meeting upon the youth of the city and state, which might prove inculcable injury to their morals and future welfare. Such a gathering, too, would demand increased vigilance in the protection of the property of the city and its inhabitants, be a menace to good order, and disturbe the peaceful pursuits and happiness of citizens who would be unwilling to patronize such an enterprise."

We hope the "prize-fighters and prize-fights" have left the county for good and that soon the law against prize fighting will be enforced throughout the state by those officers upon whom that duty lies.

For Sale—Dwelling of 5 rooms, large barn; lot 50 x 100: two blocks from Courthouse. Must be sold at once. Best bargain in Redwood City: price $900, good terms. Call on J. J. Read, real estate and insurance, 306 Broadway. 2-12-1m

WOMEN HONOR NATION'S HERO

Members of Womans Club Hold Reception in Memory of Lincoln's Natal Day.

The open reception held by the members of Redwood City Womans Club, following their regular business meeting Thursday afternoon, was one worthy of especial note, being devoted especially to honoring the anniversary of Washington and Lincoln, the Father and Savior of their great Nation. Appropriately the members of General Geo. S. Evans Womens Relief Corps and the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic were the guests of honor, a considerable number of the members of these patriotic organizations occupying prominent seats in the assemblage in the rooms of the Club in the Odd Fellows Hall.

After the guests of the occasion had assembled, the gathering was called to order by the president of the Womans Club, Mrs. C. E. Cumberson, who in a few well chosen words welcomed the guests and stated the special object of the gathering. This was followed by a roll call of the members, each responding with an appropriate quotation from the writings and speeches of the Martyr President. Following this Mrs. Cumberson, in a few complimentary words introduced Rev. Charles C. Kirtland, who delivered a short but eloquent address upon the life and character of Lincoln.

Premising, Mr. Kirtland said that he should attempt but briefly to review the life of Lincoln, endeavoring to outline some of the most striking characteristics of a character with which the entire American people were familar. While even yet hardly certain just what place in the anals of men to give this central figure of American history, he regarded Lincoln as the greatest man of the nineteenth century, which had produced so many great men. Not only was he great intellectually, but great and srong moratily; in fact he believed it was largely due to the strong moral force of the man that he had been enabled to accomplish his great life work.

In considering the accomplishments of men, we are accustomed to ask from whence they came and by what force or circumstance did they rise. In this light them must we consider the great characteristics of Lincoln. With this view we must consider the reasons which lead to his rise from a lowly birth amid the uncouth surroundings of the frontier life of the pioneers to a position as the greatest leader of a nation.

Reviewingo the boyhood life of his subject, born of humble and comparatively uneducated parents, inured to poverty and hampered by its limitations, it was he believed due to his innate moral force, assisted by a strong bodily physique, that enabled Lincoln to make his way as a leader of men. It was his kindly and really jovial disposition that secured for him the friendship and devotion of those with whom he came in contact. Another sterling caracteristic which held the admiration and esteem of his followers was the unswerving honesty of the man. To illustrate these characteristics several stories of occurrences in the life work of Lincoln were related, each illustrating the remarkable probity and kinldy disposition of the man, both in his youth and in the days of his greatness.

Mr. Kirtland then spoke at some length upon the early struggles of Linocln, first for an education which was secured in spite of the deprivations of his poverty, and of his attempts at business life. Even in his chosen profession, the law, Mr. Lincoln was not entirely a success. Naturally a leader of men, politics was the peculiar field of men, and from his boyhood a hater of human slavery, the great contest off the nation but afforded the opportunity, not made the man. Following a review of the conditions which made Lincoln the president, Mr. Kirtland followed his history through the great work of those trying times, further illustrating and emphasizing the dominant traits of moral force and kindly disposition of the man whom he considered the greatest President the country had produced.

Following the address of Mr. Kirtland, the audience were favored by a vocal solo, "The Star Spangled Banner," by Miss Bernhardt, which was so effectively rendered as to demand an encore.

As the concluding portion of the progrom Mrs. Cumberson introduced City Attorney A. H. Mansfield for an address upon the life of Washington, the Father of his Country. Owing to the limited time at his disposal, Mr. Mansfield did not attempt an analysis of the character of Washington, but rather contented himself with a biographical review of the life of the first President. Beginning with the time of the birth of Washington, details of his childhood and early life were given, providing some facts not generally comprehended. This was followed by a history of the man in his earlier services and the story of the part played by Washington in the events leadng up to the revolution and his subsequent elevation to the command of the army and then to the presidency.

After Mr. Mansfield had concluded, Mrs. Geraldine Frisbie, the president of the Womans Relief Corps was introduced for a few remarks. After thanking in the name of theCorps the members of the Club for the invitation and entertainment, Mrs. Frisbie told her hearers of her visits to the home of Washington, and spoke of securing mementoes from the old home place. One of these was a hand some gavel, made from the wood of a tree grown on the farm of Washington, which she presented to the Redwood City Womans Club as a mark of her love and esteem for the work of the organization. The gavel was received by Mrs. Cumberson, who in accepting it, announced that the Club has on the same day become the possessor of two gavels, at the same time exhibiting a second hand some emblem of authority of the presiding officer which has been presented by Mayor George A. Merrill The two gavels were received by the members of the Club with a standing vote of thanks to the donors. After the completion of the exercises of the day the guests were entertained with light refreshments.

ROYAL ARCH KNIGHTS HOLD BIG RECEPTION

Liquor Dealers Entertain City and County Officials at Annual Banquet.

The second annual banquet and reception of Redwood City Lodge No. 57, Knights of the Royal Arch, given at the Odd Fellows Hall on Thursday evening was an occasion which will live long in the memory of those who were so fortunate as to have been among itts participants. Invitations had been issued by the local lodge to a large number of guests, including the various city and county officials of San Mateo County and members of the press, as well as the grand officers of the Order. Apparently one of the chief objects of the gathering was to give to the guests an understanding of the work and progress of the organization, and right well was it accomplished, for those not members left the banquet room with a more clear understanding of the designs which lead the dealers in liquor to form an organization of their own, one which appears to have for its design the better regulation of the business and the elimination of the undesirable element of the traffic, rather than an effort to unite for the securing of special privileges for the business. As it was tersely explained, rather to enforce an obedience to the law the requirements of proper regulation than to demand unreasonable freedom of action—to improve the conditions of the conduct of the business.

The members of the Lodge and their guests to the number of fully 100 gathered in the lodge room of the order, where they were received by Chris Stader, the Valliant Commander of the Lodge, who extended to the visitors the hospitality of the evening. After a short time spent in social greetings, the guests were escorted to the banquet room by the officers of the lodge, where they were regailed by a splendidly prepared and admirably served repast,which had been prepared under the immediate direction of Mr. Stader, who enjoys an enviable reputation as a caterer.

After the guests had been seated by Valliant Commander Stader, who officiated as tostmaster, Louis Braut, the recorder of the lodge read a number of letters of regret from prominent persons who had been invited but for various reasons were prevented from being present. Among these was one from Mayor George A. Merrill, who explained that he had been unavoidably detained by a pressing engagement. While not able to be present the Mayor took occasion in his letter of regret to compliment the members of the order on the improvement made during the past two years in the conduct of the saloon business, which he said he believed at this time to be conducted to the entire satisfaction of the city officials and in his opinion to call for no further attempts at regulation or restriction.

Letters of acknowledgmen and regret were also presented from Judge George H. Buck and Justice Hannon. While these officials regreted their inability to be present, each congratulated the orgaization on its work and expressed satisfction with the general conduct of the liquor business in the county at the present time.

A pleasant feature of the evening was the introduction of the toasts between the service of the various courses of the rather elaborate menu. Thus were the participants regaled in body and mind at the same time.

As the chief speaker of the evening tostmaster Stader introduced Grand Valiant Commander John Holst of San Francisco, who spoke at some length on the design and work of the order which he said was organized some 10 years ago by those engaged in the retail liquor trade for the improvement of the conditions surrounding the conduct of the business. The guests, especially officials and members of the press, had been invited that they might be given an understanding of the designs of the organization, and to these he would say that its object was not to secure for its members undue special privileges or immunities, but rather to rid the business of the undesirable element. The members were pledged to uphold and abide by the law, and its members would be among the first to protest against any disorderly place and demand a revocation of its license. Following this Mr. Holst spoke of the antiquity of the custom of the use of liquor as a beverage, tracing its sanction to eminent religious and civil authority.

District Attorney Bullock,who followed, congratulated the saloon men of the county upon the present generally satfactory conduct of their business. In the absence of Chairman Merrill, Trustee Rice spoke on behalf of the Council, expressing approval of the conduct of the local saloons during the past two years and their present evident intention to obey the law.

The fun maker of the evening was P. Thorsen of San Mateo, who was brimming full of wit and humor. At various times during the evening he amused his hearers with bits of fun and kept up the best of humor. Among the other notable speakers were County Treasurer Chamberlain, County Auditor Underhill, County Recorder Johnson. W. C. Wood, Grand Recorder of the Order, Justice McSweeny and Coroner Plymire of South San Francisco, Charles Myers of Menlo Park and several of the visiting newsaper men.

A notable feature of the evening was the presentation of handsome gold emblematic emblems to past valliant commanders George A. Long and Arthur Carleton.

Just before the gathering prepared to separate District Attorney J. J. Bullock launched a boom for a monster county celebration in this city of the coming Fourth of July, which he urged would be of special interest as a celebration of the erection of the new Courthouse. The suggestion met with an enthusiastice reception and promises of support from all sections.

From Pomponia.

The officers of the Pomponia Gun Club propose giving notice to all their members to meet some time in the month of May for a Varment hunt of three or four days duration on their Pomponia preserve. J. G. Anderson suggests that as many dogs as it is possible to get be used in the chase regardless of breed. The object of the hunt is to try and exterminate, as much as possible all the varments such as wild cats cayotes, raccoons, lynx, etc., also birds of prey, which are known to be quite numerous in this locality. By so doing this will enable the phasents and other wild game to multiply. There will be given a big Spanish barbecue to celebrate the occasion, and a very handsome prize to be given to the most successful hunter.

It appears that there is a professional gang of safe crackers in the state that make a specialty of this line of theivery. About a year ago the local office was robbed, the thieves getting away with nearly $900. It is possible that members of the same gang returned thinking that they would again make a big haul.

Would Introduced New Plant.

The following letter received at this office is self explanatory. It would be well for all wishing these seeds to communicate with Mrs. Warner.

Editor Times-Gazette and Readers:

I hope my head won't come off with a premature dose of the waste basket as I want to talk or write flowers to the San Mateo County people, or at least one particular flower, and that is the Royal Poinciana, and as it is said to have been brought here from the Island of Cuba, it is not likely to have reached California, any way I will mail the seed, as I would like to know howo it thrives there. The Poinciana is of rapid growth and easy culture and when some four or five feet high, it then produces freely its firy red flowers and is a strikingly handsome plant, the foliage is deep cut and sensitive to atmospheric conditions, closng at night or upon the approach of a storm, and while it will bear frosts it will not the freezing weather. I want to mail the seed to all who will try it in California, and later please let me know how you succeed. not that I am in any seed business, or. ever expect to be. Send a plainly written address and a stamp for postage, of course I will send the seed and enough so you can divide with some one else. Yours.

San Mateo Boy Wants Office.

Edward H. Aigeltinger has been here during the week secruing verifications deputies and making other preparations for his campaign for railroad commissioner in this district which comprises the Counties of San Francisco, Marin and San Mateo. Mr. Aigeltinger is seeking the Republican nomination. He spent his boyhood in Pescadero and feels that he has a claim on this county. He is a successful busines man in the metropolis having been for years engaged in buying and selling hay and grain. For two terms he was elected a member of the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco and served with credit to himself and the city. He is a wholesouled man, who will do his full duty as railroad commissioner. He will be honest and on the side of the people. His past record is a sufficient guarantee of what we may expect of him as commissioner. He has a strong following in this county and should he get the nomination will poll a large vote.

There has been a mistake made in the report on the financial condition of the fifth township. Instead of being overdrawn $4343 the fifth township has to its credit $4008 for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1910.

This mistake was a typographical error and we feel that it should be corrected in order to set Supervisor Blackburn right with the tax payers of his township.

HELPFUL WORDS

From a Redwood City Citizen.

Is your back lame and painful?
Does it ache especially after exertion?
Is there a soreness in the kidney region?
These symptoms indicate weak kidneys;
There is danger in delay.
Weak kidneys fast get weaker.
Give your trouble prompt attention.
Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly,
They stengthen weak kindeys,
Read this Redwood City testimony.

Mrs. H. C. Wilder, 908 Arguello street, Redwood City, Cal., says: "After using Doan's Kidney Pills and receiving great benefit, I publicly endorsed them in July 1907. Now two and a half years later, I still hold this remedy in high esteem and strongly recommend it to anyone suffering from backache or other symptoms of kidney trouble. One of my relatives has used Doan's Kidney Pills and praises them just as highly as I do. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at P. A Ryan's Drug Store and shall be glad to give them a word of praise."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
